We are now set to install Autocase. Please make sure AutoCase + is selected along with the version of AutoCad you are using. When finished, please proceed by clicking Next. The next screen allows you to determine what type of installation this is. There are three different types of installs: Local Standalone Install, Full Network Install, and Partial Network Install.

Local Standalone Install

The application would run on a single computer, this computer handles the application and all data. By choosing this option, you would install both the database and the application on the standalone computer.

Full Network Install

The application and database would be installed on the server only. Each network workstation can access and run the application. This is more suited for large networks.

Partial Network Install

By choosing this option, the application would be installed on the workstation and the database would be installed on the server. All workstations would be working from the same database.
